-Aid For State Farmers— Drought Request Is Filed

Hitchcock County's
Application In Mail

TRENTON, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special) — Raymond Stehno, Hitchcock County PMA chairman, told The Lincoln Star Friday that the county has mailed to the state drought committee their formal application to be declared a drought emergency area.

Robert Webb, state PMA administrative chief, said the committee would meet Monday as soon as the application is received.

The governor must approve the application before it is sent to Washington for the president's declaration.

Approval Expected

Indications in Lincoln are that the approval of the formal application will meet with no difficulties and Gov. Crosby is also expected to approve the Hitchcock plea.

Stehno said the application contains the signatures of 21 Hitchcock County residents. "We feel that we have a good cross-section represented with signatures of bankers, farmers, ranchers, the county extension agent, and others on the application," Stehno said.

The state drought committee suggested that Hitchcock County get the additional signatures before action was taken on the application.

Broad Wording Likely

Members of the state drought committee include the members of the state PMA committee, State Agricultural Director Ed Hoyt, Extension Service Director Ed Janike, A. E. VonBergren of the state Farmers Home Administration, and Gen. Guy Heninger, state Civil Defense director.

Webb said the application which will be sent to the President would probably be worded asking that Hitchcock County be declared a drought emergency area "and any other counties as may be ultimately recommended by the state drought committee."

"This will open the way for other counties (Dundy, Hayes) in the same area to apply for aid without the lengthy process needed for Hitchcock," Webb said.

1st County Corn Goes To Elevator

The first load of Lancaster County corn of the 1953 harvest reached the elevator Friday.

Duane Mitchell, who farms two miles north of Cheney, brought in approximately 200 bushels of corn to the Farmers Terminal Elevator Co. at Cheney. His crop was not graded Friday afternoon.

Scattered picking is going on throughout the county, Pat O'Halloran, Lancaster County PMA committeeman, said. He reported that Lee Magee, who farms near Cheney, had started picking his corn.

Corn harvest in the county will probably be in full swing next week, C. E. Hill, assistant county agent, said. Farmers in the Waverly area have not found their corn as dry as they had expected and are delaying cribbing it, he said.

The Richardson County corn harvest also opened Friday, the Associated Press reported. Henry Remmers sold 122 bushels of corn to the Danner elevator. The corn which tested 15.6 per cent moisture was almost good enough to grade No. 2, an exceptional grade for this early in the season.

The farmer quoted no estimate on yield but said he considered the corn very good for a dry year such as this.

Red POWs Free 2 Indian Officers

MUNSAN (Saturday) (INS)—Indian truce supervisors announced today that two Indian officers were held captive for 90 minutes Friday by 500 unprepared Chinese Communist prisoners in the Korean neutralized zone.

The commander of the Indian troops in the zone, Maj. Gen. S. P. Tborat, rushed into the prisoner compound alone. The Chinese released the two officers unhurt and invited the Indians to join them in a tea party.

According to an Indian spokesman, the Chinese were holding the two officers as "ransom" for the return of a Chinese sergeant.

Then Mrs. Shaver went on to have Peggy, 3, at her mother's left; Patty, 2, at mother's right; and little Jimmy, 18 months. (AP Wirephoto Friday Night.)

135 MPH Hurricane Nears Gulf Coast Line

Disaster Teams Converge On Areas In Front Of 'Florence'

MOBILE, Ala. (INS)—Heavy rains and gusts of winds up to 45 miles an hour—forerunners of a potentially dangerous hurricane—struck the Gulf of Mexico coastal areas from Louisiana to Florida Friday night.

The drenching rains and lashing winds heralded the approach of hurricane "Florence" and its center winds of 135 mile velocity.

At 11 p.m. (EST) the New Orleans Weather Bureau reported the storm had increased its forward speed slightly—to about 15 miles an hour—and at that hour was located 170 miles southwest of Panama City, Fla. It added:

"Indications are for continued north to north-northeast movement . . . with hurricane force winds beginning in the Pensacola-Panama City area near daybreak."

The bureau, in a special bulletin issued at 7:30 p.m. (EST) located the "cane 210 miles south of Pensacola, moving northward about 12-14 miles per hour."

The broad expanse of Gulf Coast, studded with numerous military air bases, was prepared for the expected big blow.

Red Cross units were mobilized, exposed shoreline resort areas were evacuated, while planes hurriedly set up emergency power generators for hospitals and water systems.

Military units like Tyndall Field at Panama City, Fla., and other installations at Mobile and the giant naval air station at Pensacola, Fla., moved planes inland.

Emergency shelters were set up in the coastal cities by the Red Cross and Civil Defense organizations. Special teams of disaster workers from both groups converged on the threatened areas.

As the hurricane neared, 85 planes at Brookley Air Force Base were flown inland to safer areas.

In Mobile, merchants boarded up their windows, but inhabitants in the area adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

If "Florence" hits, it will be Pensacola's first major hurricane since 1916, although minor hurricanes struck in recent years.

The last hurricane to approach Mobile skipped the city but did damage in other Baldwin County sections.

The Alabama football team, scheduled to play Louisiana State Saturday, cancelled plans to fly to Mobile and will take busses to the stadium.

At Baton Rouge, La., it was announced that the Louisiana team also has decided to use busses instead of planes.

Elmer H. Boswell, 58, an employee of the Lancaster Farm Service Company, was reported in serious condition at Lincoln General Hospital after a gasoline barrel he was welding exploded.

Boswell was injured when the top of the barrel struck him in the left side of the head. Fred Griffin, manager of the company which is a Ford Motor Company subsidiary, said Boswell's welding mask is the only thing that saved him from being killed outright.

Boswell had filled the barrel partially with water to eliminate the gasoline fumes. The top of the barrel that struck him tore through a paper mache boarding and landed 45 feet away.

-AFL Action— No Raid Pact Is Signed

Durkin Resignation
Is Called 'Justified'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The AFL Friday approved a "no raiding" pact with the CIO and resolved to establish machinery for peaceful settlement of union fights within AFL itself.

A busy final session of the AFL's annual convention also adopted a resolution saying the recent resignation of AFL union leader Martin Durkin secretary of labor was justified "because of the failure of President Eisenhower to keep his agreement" with Durkin.

This referred to Durkin's claim he quit because Eisenhower broke an agreement to send a message to Congress suggesting 19 changes in the union-criticized Taft-Hartley Law. The White House has said there was no such agreement.

"Although the administration amendments in question were far short of our program," the convention resolution said, "they represented a forward step and the failure to propose them was clearly responsive to anti-labor pressures."

Officers Re-elected

In other actions the AFL re-elected officers, including George Meany as president, and chartered a new union to replace the International Longshoremen's Association, ousted from the AFL for harboring racketeers.

The "no raiding" agreement with the CIO still requires approval by the CIO convention at Cleveland in November, but an okay is expected. The pact is regarded as an initial step toward possible AFL-CIO merger.

The resolution approving the AFL-CIO agreement said "so long as the ranks of labor are divided, labor will continue to be weakened—There is no reason for the division in labor ranks."

The AFL-CIO pact is to become effective Jan. 1 for all unions subscribing to it individually. It would pledge them against seeking to get already organized workers to switch allegiance from one union to another, a practice that has stirred up considerable labor strife.

Any argument about the agreement would be settled by an umpire, and violations could be punished by court action.

May Refuse

Some major unions in the AFL and CIO have indicated they may refuse to go along with the agreement. But leaders in both the AFL and CIO have expressed hope all will accept the plan eventually.

The convention, conceding union squabbles are hurting or organizing labor, directed the AFL's executive council to work out a dispute-settling plan in six months and call a special meeting of AFL union presidents to consider it.

Whatever plan thus agreed upon could be put into effect immediately for the unions endorsing it.

The action taken at concluding sessions of the AFL's week-long convention was highly tentative, depending on future agreements, but AFL President George Meany said it was "a constructive step."

Prairie Fire Burns 6 Miles

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP) — A prairie fire ranged over a six-mile deep area of the Joe Herian ranch north of Alliance Friday.

The fire started about 11 a.m., probably started by sparks from a railroad locomotive, and was brought under control during the afternoon. More than 100 volunteers from Alliance assisted in combating the blaze after the Alliance Fire Department, early on the scene, called for help.

The flames also spread over a small portion of the Herman Seidler farm adjoining the Herian property.

Damage was believed confined to grasslands.

Historical Society To Mark 75th Year With Dedication

Dedication of the new State Historical Society Building Sunday will climax the society's two-day 75th anniversary meeting which opens Saturday in Lincoln.

Among the dignitaries assisting with the dedication will be Gov. Robert Crosby; Mayor Clark Jeary; C. Y. Thompson, president of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents; James E. Lawrence, president of the historical society; and Dr. James C. Olson, society superintendent.

Two of the nation's top historians will be on hand Saturday for the celebration. They are Dr. Walter Prescott Webb, professor of history at the University of Texas, and Dr. Albert B. Corey, New York state historian and president of the American Association for State and Local History.

Dr. Webb will speak at the Society's 75th anniversary dinner at the Lincoln Hotel on "The Old Windmill Keeps A-Turnin'—The Story of Some Prairie Inventions." In addition to teaching at Texas, he has been Harkness Lecturer at the University of London and Harmsworth professor of history at Oxford University. He is also known for his books on American plains history.

Dr. Corey, who will speak at the luncheon meeting Saturday at the hotel, has taught at universities in Canada and the United States. His talk will be "Decalogue for State and Local History."

Members of the historical society will take a "preview" tour of the new building at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. The building will be formally opened by Gov. Crosby following Sunday's dedication services. Those attending the luncheon will be given a conducted tour.

Members of the Native Sons and Daughters of Nebraska will also meet Saturday and join the society's anniversary celebration.

The schedule of activities for the two-day meeting will be:

Saturday
9:30 a.m.—Registration, Hotel Lincoln lobby.
10 a.m.—Native Sons and Daughters of Nebraska business meeting. Chinese Room.
10:30 a.m.—Annual business meeting, Chinese Room.
12:30 p.m.—Luncheon, Terrace Room.
2:30 p.m.—Session on Nebraska Territory. Chinese Room. T. L. Green of Scottsbluff, presiding. Speakers: Dr. James L. Sellers, chairman of the University of Nebraska department of history; "Nebraska One Hundred Years" Donald F. Dunker, historical society archivist; "Columbus A Territorial Town in the Plate Valley" John B. White, historical society librarian. "Some Materials for the Study of Nebraska Territory."
4:30 p.m.—"Preview" tour of the new building.
6:30 p.m.—75th anniversary dinner, Terrace Room. James E. Lawrence, presiding. Dr. Walter Prescott Webb, speaker.

Sunday
1 p.m.—Luncheon, University of Nebraska Student Union. Nathan J. Gold, historical society treasurer, presiding. Invocation by the Rt. Rev. Howard H. Brinker of Omaha, Episcopal Bishop of Nebraska. Speakers: Dr. Olson, "The New Building"; Mayor Jeary, "Welcome to Lincoln"; C. Y. Thompson, "The Nebraska Territory"; Presentation of the building to the people of Nebraska by J. E. Lawrence. Acceptance for the people of Nebraska, by Gov. Crosby. Benediction by the Rev. Louis B. Kucera, Bishop of Lincoln.

The 10 distribution centers in the state have used about one-third of the 30,000 cubic centimeters allocated to the State Health Department.

Between one-half and two-thirds of the total allocation probably will be used by the end of the year, Dr. Rogers estimated.

The gamma globulin allocation, released by the Office of Defense Mobilization through the U. S. Public Health Service, was sufficient to inoculate family contacts of the average number of polio cases the state had during a five-year period from 1947 to 1951.

"Eligible family contacts," as defined by the distributing agency, are persons in the household under the age of 20 and pregnant women of any age, Dr. Rogers said.

Critical Shortage In Western Europe Is To Be Remedied

North American
Defenses Will Be Bolstered

America To Help,
But Our Share
Kept Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Security Council was reported Friday night to have decided the rapidly expanding atomic and air power of Russia makes imperative a further bulwarking of North American continental defenses.

But the council believes the defense program can be expanded without an excessively heavy money investment in the first phases, well informed sources said. They also reported that it was not deemed necessary to put the work on a "crash" construction basis.

"Crash" construction is that wherein projects are placed on a rush basis without regard to expense. An emergency is usually deemed to exist.

The Security Council, headed by President Eisenhower himself, is the government's top strategy-policy group.

Two Factors

The decision to step into the new continental defense program with a comparatively modest initial outlay presumably was governed not only by the desire to avoid a sudden sharp expansion of the military budget in the face of the administration's economy program, but by a second factor.

During heavily in discussions of what to do about Russia has been a school of thought which contends that, at best, passive defense of the continent can never stop every H-bomb-carrying plane that the U.S.S.R. might launch from getting through to target cities.

This group argues for the retaliatory offensive air fleet, to atom-bomb Russia if she attacks. The existence of such a force must be a deterrent to Russian decision to attempt atomic war, it is argued. Augmentation of passive defense for the continent would siphon away military funds which now are earmarked for the long range strategic bomber fleet.

The military—fiscal planners were described as believing the initial step to speed up continental defense should be expansion of the radar warning net designed to provide early warning of approaching bombers through stations in the high latitudes of the Arctic as well as stations farther south. These would track enemy craft once they had passed the early warning net.

Farm Mishap Takes Life Of Pickrell Man

PICKRELL, Neb. (AP) — A farmer burned to death following a tractor mishap at a shed on his place 7 1/2 miles northeast of here Friday afternoon.

The victim was Henry Fisser, 33, a lifelong resident of the Pickrell and Cortland area.

Maxwell said Fisser was backing a tractor into the shed, which had a low clearance. Fisser's back struck the side of the shed and he fell to the ground against the wheels of the tractor.

Maxwell said the tractor throttle was open and the vehicle was immobilized when Fisser's body prevented its backward motion.

The tractor and shed were destroyed.

Spinning wheels of the tractor may have started a fire in the shed, Maxwell said, as the wheels had dug themselves into the ground more than 12 inches.

The fire department was called, but Fisser's body was burned beyond recognition before firefighters were able to enter the blazing building.

Today's Chuckle

A day would be improved a lot if it started at some other time than in the morning.

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic Council announced Friday a plan aimed at spending about $1,370,000 a day during the next two years for making ammunition for Allied Armies in Europe.

The United States will help finance the billion dollar program aimed at curing the critical shortage of ammunition in Western Europe, but just how much it will pay is a secret.

Lowell P. Weicker of New York, NATO assistant secretary general, told newsmen that U.S. officials asked NATO not to disclose how much American money would be spent.

A high ranking American military leader earlier this year said Western Europe had only enough of some kinds of ammunition to fight for three to five days, if war broke out.

LITTLE IMPROVED

The ammunition supply has improved little since then. A spokesman at Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Powers in Europe said the NATO program "would raise somewhat the level of ammunition stocks which Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway referred to as 'low' in his annual report last May."

Ridgway, former supreme Allied commander in Europe, is now U. S. Army Chief of Staff.

Most of the ammunition for Europe's Armies comes from the United States.

That's why many of the NATO nations have balked at stockpiling huge quantities of ammunition. It would drain their short dollar supply as well as strain their national defense budgets.

BIGGEST PROBLEM

The ammunition problem—called by Secretary General Lord Ismay "the biggest single program ever presented to the Atlantic alliance"—is intended to get Allied factories in Western Europe to manufacture ammunition and stop depending on the U. S. output.

It will be financed by the producing countries and by off-shore procurement under the United States Mutual Security Program," he said.

The council previously announced two similar projects—one for ships and warplanes and the other for making Army equipment.

"The total value of these correlated programs," Ismay said, "now considerably exceeds $2 billion."

All NATO countries may take part in the program, Weicker said. He added that most of them have the industrial capacity, "providing they are given enough financial help, and that help must come from the United States."

Blair Woman Death Ruled 'Not Criminal'

BLAIR, Neb. (AP)—A coroner's jury of six men here late Friday ruled there was "no evidence of criminal negligence or criminal intent" in the death of Mrs. Donald Cook, 46, Blair.

She died late Thursday without regaining consciousness after an accident early Wednesday, apparently involving an auto.

Washington County Attorney Roy L. Anderson, who conducted the inquest, said the jury was out 10 minutes.

One of the key witnesses was Mrs. Ray Dixon, a nurse on duty at the Blair Hospital at the time Mrs. Cook was admitted.

Mrs. Dixon said she overheard Mrs. Cook say:

"It wasn't his fault. I hung on the bumper and he didn't know I was there."

Donald Cook, 41, husband of the dead woman, had told investigators that following an argument Wednesday evening he got into his car to drive downtown.

He said his wife stood in front of the car, taunting him to "run over me." He said he backed the car down the alley instead and does not know if she grabbed the grillwork or bumper and was dragged.

Two boys injured when swing falls

Two small boys, injured when a swing they were on broke, were reported as doing "about as well as can be expected" at Bryan Memorial Hospital late Friday night.

Dennis, 3, and his brother, Dwayne, 8, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hill, were injured Friday at South Bend elementary school. Dennis suffered a fractured shoulder and Dwayne a fractured arm.

East-West Pact Plan Pondered

U.S.-Russia Security Treaty Is Suggested

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three Western powers were reported Friday to be mulling over ideas for a series of far reaching security pacts for proposal to the Soviet Union.

Informed diplomats said one plan under study—but not widely supported—would create a demilitarized zone along both sides of the Polish-German border.

Another suggestion was said to be for separate security treaties between the United States and Russia; Britain and Russia; the six-nation European Defense Community (EDC) and Russia. Presumably each signatory nation would be bound to support the other side in the event of an unprovoked attack.

The foreign office would not comment officially on these reports. The informants, however, said the United States, Britain and France were interchanging thoughts on the proposals but so far as is known no hard agreements have been reached. There is no indication of how Russia would react to proposals of this kind.

Such a many-sided security system between great rival power blocs would be unique in modern diplomatic history. The United States, for instance, never has entered any peace-time treaty with Communist Russia.

If the Western Allies agree on the proposals, they may have the opportunity of putting them to Russia next month.

100 Feared Dead In Japan Typhoon; One G.I. Is Killed

TOKYO (Saturday) — (INS)—A death-laden typhoon howled across Japan today and left possibly more than 100 persons dead with property damage running into the millions.

U. S. Army headquarters reported one American soldier among the dead and said he was killed at a storm-battered Army camp in southwest Japan. His name was not released.

Damage to U. S. military installations alone was estimated at more than $2,000,000 in the hard hit Kyoto, Otsu, Osaka and Kobe areas.

Incomplete casualty reports indicated more than 100 persons were killed and more than 300 were missing or injured.

The storm center, whirling across populous central Honshu on a northeasterly course towards the Pacific, missed the Tokyo area but struck with devastating fury in the regions north of the city.

Torrential rains and gale-force winds wrecked communications and houses, battered ships at sea, flooded large areas and stranded trains in numerous central Japan communities.

Most of the dead were swept away in rushing floodwaters or perished in landslides and wind-collapsed homes.

Musical selection by Harry Johnson and his combo.

Desperado Is Killed By FBI In Gun Duel

BALTIMORE (AP)—A squad of FBI agents quietly entered a downtown movie Friday night and shot and killed a 33-year-old West Coast desperado trapped in a telephone booth while making a long distance call to Los Angeles.

The man was identified as John Elgin Johnson, former bank robber and Alcatraz parole violator, also wanted on suspicion of murder in Los Angeles.

The exchange of eight to 10 shots, in which two FBI agents were seriously wounded, apparently went unnoticed by most of the theater audience, blocked off from the mezzanine by a thick wall.

The show, a murder mystery, continued, and no crowds gathered as the body was removed. Some patrons said later they heard something like "firecrackers going off."

Trap Set
S. S. Alden, agent in charge of the local FBI office, said the trap was set after the Los Angeles FBI called and said Johnson had made a telephone call to the West Coast Friday afternoon, promising to call back Friday night.

When he called back about 7:45, they traced the number to the Town Theater here and notified the local FBI office.

He said the party being called at Los Angeles—believed to be at a newspaper office—managed to keep Johnson talking till a squad of local agents could get to the theater.

Alden said when Johnson saw the group approaching the booth, in the theater mezzanine, he opened fire through the door. Agents returned it, cutting him down inside the booth where he slumped to the floor dead.

Agent Brady Murphy was hit by a bullet in the lower left abdomen and was reported in critical, but improving, condition at Mercy Hospital. Agent Ray Fox was hospitalized with a bullet wound in the hip.

Nevadan President Of U.S. 6

Proposal To By-Pass Omaha, Bluffs Talked

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—Cecil E. Geraghty of Ely, Nev., Friday was re-elected president of the National Highway 6 Association.

The group, meeting in convention here, set up a program for the coming year, outlined its aims and adopted resolutions.

Darwin Labert, also of Ely, was named secretary.

Division vice presidents include: Western division, Long Beach, Calif.; Denver, Geraghty; central division, Denver to Chicago, V. E. Skipton, Hastings, and eastern division, Chicago to Provincetown, Mass., Wendell E. Phillips of Port Jervis, N. Y.

Hey! Named
Principal committee chairmen, who in effect serve as vice presidents, include: Howard Jones, Long Beach, publicity and advertising; C. B. Rader, Glenwood Springs, Colo., highway improvement, and Loren Belby, Ely, membership-finances.

Executive vice presidents by states include: New York, Fred D. Salmon Jr., Port Jervis; California, Bill Tomerlin, Long Beach; Howard R. Ellis, Long Pine, Al Jacoby, Bishop, and G. Walter Dow, Whittier; Nevada, Elwin Robinson, Ely, and C. C. Bohn, Tonopah; Utah, Golden Black, Delta, and V. N. Davis, Price; Nebraska, Charles Heyl, Lincoln.

Colorado, R. L. Johnson, Dillon, and Claude Smith, Grand Junction; Iowa, Charles Hughes, Des Moines; Illinois, T. B. Leamy, Ottawa, and Allan S. Holbrook, Dwight; Pennsylvania, Hugh Dale, Wellsboro.

The convention adopted a resolution recommending that the Nebraska highway department give a thorough study to an alternate Highway 6 route which would by-pass Omaha and Council Bluffs, Ia.

According to the resolution, the proposed by-pass would go south of Gretna and Papillion, Neb., and cross the Missouri River into Iowa at the Bellevue bridge.

G. G. Wallace of Hastings, who introduced the resolution, said the by-pass would miss many sharp turns east of Council Bluffs, shorten mileage by 11 miles and shorten driving time by 1½ hours. It would mean construction of 11 miles of new highway in Nebraska.

Master Masons In Phone Work Lodge 54 Guests

Master Masons from throughout the state who are engaged in or affiliated with the telephone business were guests of Lancaster Lodge No. 54 in Lincoln Friday.

More than 300 persons attended the Telephone Day banquet at the Masonic Temple. Merle M. Hale, grand junior warden of the Grand Lodge of Nebraska and vice president of Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., was the banquet speaker.

Four men, including two Lincoln telephone employees, received the degree of Master Mason.

Allan G. Behm, associated with LT&T, W. E. Weller and John Ernst received their degrees in the afternoon session. John R. Shipp, LT&T employee, was granted his degree Friday night with all participating dressed in full regalia.

All stations and lectures in the Friday night ceremonies were taken by fellow telephone employees.

Committee chairman for the event were A. B. Gorman, general chairman; Joe Hartley, chairman of degree work; and George R. Mann, chairman of fellowcraft work.

News Around The Globe

Beria Said 'Positively' Free

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Lavrenti P. Beria escape story was revived Friday with a new report that the ousted chief of the dread Soviet secret police has "positively" fled Russia.

But this latest report added a new twist—that the Kremlin is training several Beria "doubles" so that one of them can play the role of defendant in an open trial to be held within a month.

Col. Ulio (Pete) Amoss, president of a private group that collects intelligence information from behind the Iron Curtain, said his information was relayed to him from an informant in Tiflis, capital of Georgia, the Soviet province in the Caucasus where Beria once lived.

According to one of his "old established" sources in Tiflis, Amoss said, Beria "positively" escaped through the Caucasus. The report did not say where the one-time Kremlin hatchet man is now.

Asia Plan Offered

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—France proposed Friday that the Communists and the French attempt to settle the 8-year-old war in Indochina by diplomatic negotiations, either in the Korean peace conference or immediately afterward.

Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, in his government's opening speech to the U.N. Assembly, said the object of such negotiations would be to end the aggression in Indochina and make possible a return of more normal conditions of international relations in Asia. He said hints had appeared that the two outside powers which "inspire and arm the Vietnamese rebels" in Indochina were disposed to consider the opening of negotiations to end that conflict.

PW Release Set

BERLIN (AP)—The East German radio announced Friday night that the first German war prisoners to be freed from Soviet camps since the Kremlin and East Germany announced a deal last August have begun arriving at the border.

The Communist broadcast said the first group arrived at the Frankfurt-Order border, but did not give any figures. It said the men eventually would be sent on to their home towns. The East German Interior Ministry announced earlier that the group consisted of prisoners convicted of minor war crimes.

Reds Hold 1,000

LONDON (INS)—Informed British sources estimated Friday there are more than 1,000 Western nationals including 59 Americans, being held in Communist prisons from Prague to Canton.

They said the largest number of these captives consists of Christian missionaries detained in Red China. Known to be imprisoned there are 20 Catholic bishops and more than 200 priests, nuns, nurses and other Christian workers, while several hundred others are under house arrest.

Plan 'Nazi-Like'

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Western Allies and many German newsmen expressed alarm Friday night over a prospect that the Adenauer government might set up a full-fledged ministry of information with propaganda and restrictive powers. Some opposed to it raised the cry of Nazi-like tactics.

A few hours later Chancellor Konrad Adenauer issued a statement saying he, too, opposed the project and had since it was first proposed.

Dean Asks Favor

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean said Friday night he had asked President Syngman Rhee to release two South Koreans accused of betraying him to the Communists three years ago.

Dean, guest of honor at a Berkeley civic reception, told newsmen that he had asked the South Korean President by radio to extend clemency to the Koreans as "a personal favor to me."

Two-Car Crash Here Injures 4, None Critically

Four persons were injured—none critically—in a two-car accident late Friday afternoon south of Lincoln at the entrance of Lincoln Memorial Park.

The injured, treated and being held at St. Elizabeth Hospital for observation, are:

Helen E. Johnson, 59, 1521 Le-Gros, driver of one car, treated for cuts on forehead and left knee.

Mrs. Ellen Baker, 67, Grand Island, in the Johnson car, treated for broken left arm and back injuries.

Abraham Franck, 35, Minneapolis, Minn., driver of the second car, treated for cuts about face and suffering possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Evelyn Franck, wife of Franck, 47, treated for cuts and bruises on forehead. Safety Patrolman B. A. Moleky said the Johnson car was traveling south on Highway 77 and apparently turned left into Lincoln Memorial Park at which point the Franck car, traveling north, was unable to stop in time to avoid collision.

Missing Youth Found Behind Chicken House

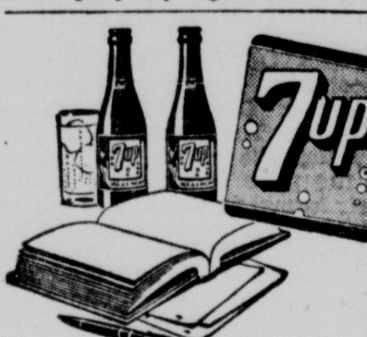

EUSTIS, Neb. (AP)—Wolfgang Haegle, 14-year-old Eustis boy missing since Tuesday, was found unconscious late Friday behind a chicken house on the farm of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haegle.

The boy's condition was such that he could not be questioned about his whereabouts since he disappeared shortly after an auto accident Tuesday. He was taken to the Community Hospital at Cozad.

Mrs. Haegle, who had been helping neighbors search the area, found her nephew. She said she had looked in the same spot some three hours before and it wasn't there.

Wolfgang was involved in an auto accident while driving home from school Tuesday. The Haegles said he complained about a headache and hurt leg before disappearing.

Earlier Friday, authorities said they had "no leads whatsoever" to the boy's whereabouts. A telephone line ring had urged farmers in the area to search their property again.

Increase In Swine Research Advocated

Baby Pig Loss Hits $10 Million

Stressing the need for more research and teaching in swine production at the 18th annual Rooters' Day program at the University of Nebraska Friday, Dr. S. W. Terrill, University of Illinois, told swine producers that the death loss in baby pigs in Nebraska amounted to an annual loss of 10 million dollars.

The meeting attracted between 350 and 400 persons.

Dr. Terrill pointed out that one and one-half million pigs die before reaching weaning age. This figure represents 25 per cent of the pig crop.

In emphasizing the importance of swine production to Nebraska's economy, he said that hogs represent about 19 per cent of Nebraska's farm income. In 1951 more than four and one-half million hogs were marketed in the state at a value of 208 million dollars. This equaled about one-half of the income from cows and calves.

Also appearing on the afternoon program was Russ Ives of the American Meat Institute. He told the swine producers that it was reasonable to expect an eight to 10 per cent increase in next year's spring pig crop as a result of the improvement in the hog corn price ratio.

Willard H. Waldo, prominent hog breeder from DeWitt, Neb., told the Rooters' Day crowd that producing a good pig crop requires the best of breeding, proper feeding, good management and adequate disease control.

Another speaker, D. R. Warner, assistant professor of animal husbandry at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, said that response from feeding antibiotics to pigs has varied to some extent.

Prof. R. J. Meade reviewed the comprehensive swine feeding and nutrition investigations carried on at the Agricultural Experiment Station during the past year. One popular phase had to do with work done on protein investigations.

Inquest Planned In Woman's Death

BLAIR, Neb. (AP)—An inquest will be held early next week into the death of Mrs. Donald Cook, 46, of Blair, County Attorney Roy Anderson said.

Mrs. Cook died in an Omaha hospital after being in a coma since she was admitted Wednesday. Investigators were unable to question her concerning the way she was injured.

Anderson said he instructed Sheriff Rudy Fick to select six Blair residents to sit on the coroner's jury. It will be held at the Washington County Courthouse, probably Tuesday.

There were no witnesses to the strange accident that caused multiple fractures and internal injuries to Mrs. Cook in an alley behind her home early Wednesday. An auto apparently was involved.

Anderson said jurors would have to rely on testimony of the woman's husband, Donald, 41,

Mrs. Wegner Dies; Grand Secretary Of Nebraska OES

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Funeral services will be held at the First Congregational Church here Sunday for Mrs. Allie Wegner, 61, for the past six years grand secretary of the Order of the Eastern Star in Nebraska.

The former Fremont resident, lately of Omaha, died here. She had come to Fremont several weeks ago to stay with a sister.

Mrs. Wegner was a past grand matron of the OES in Nebraska and past worthy grand chaplain of the general grand chapter.

Young Mother Sent To Jail For Cruelty

PLATTSBURGH, Neb. (INS)—Mrs. Dale Barkhurst, 19-year-old Weeping Water, Neb., woman, was under sentence of 30 days in jail Friday after pleading guilty in Cass County Court to a charge of cruelty to a child.

Mrs. Barkhurst's infant daughter, Jacqueline, three and a half months, is hospitalized in Omaha with serious head injuries.

The mother admitted to authorities that she threw the baby to the floor after her crying "made her nervous."

Mrs. Barkhurst and her husband, a quarry worker, took the child to the Omaha hospital and told hospital attendants the baby was hurt in an accidental fall.

A doctor who examined the baby became suspicious, however, and notified authorities.

Cass County officials have not yet reached a decision on disposition of an older child of the Barkhursts. The case was still being investigated.

Finishing The Job

The editor of the Daily Nebraskan, the student publication at the University of Nebraska, comes to grips with the fact that 53 per cent—or over half—of the 1953 freshmen class cannot be expected to qualify for a degree or in other words to finish the job.

Could be that wrong emphasis of the meaning of a college degree may contribute to this rather dismal showing. The degree in itself does not suggest that one's education is completed. It has only started. Year after year following graduation from college, that education will continue. The end of each year will find the individual—man or woman—just a little bit better informed than the year before—just a little bit wiser—just a little bit better equipped for whatever job is to be done. In universities and colleges, we fear, frequently there is the disposition to look upon the degree as the end and not the beginning of education.

But a degree does not mean that a young man or a young woman has completed a task upon which they embark. They have completed the requirements in the course of study to discipline the mind and to acquire added competency for understanding. There can be a deep satisfaction in completing the qualifications for a degree—the satisfaction that arises within one in knowing that through perseverance and application, the job is done. That job most accurately can be described as laying the foundation for useful, happy citizenship.

Spine-Tingling Preview

"What has happened," the little woman inquired the other night, "to contribute so much talk of war recently?"

What we are getting, it appears, is a genuine preview of the chilling potentialities of atomic warfare. For security reasons, any discussion of atomic weapons, including the latest development, the hydrogen bomb, has been forbidden food for thought. Now the administration and those advising it seem to feel that the hour has arrived for frank talk.

We see no reason why there should be any disposition to avoid frank discussion, so long as it does not intrude upon information which could be helpful to an enemy. The American people are not children. They can take it. It is to their benefit that they learn the facts of life, and they should be told fully of the dangers of the atomic age.

Lack of information bearing upon mass destruction—partial or complete destruction of civilization—does not serve the cause of peace. We are not sure that the warning sounded by the retired head of the Atomic Energy Commission, Gordon Dean, that Russia today has the ability to hurt us badly and two years hence to destroy us virtually if she moves first, will be able to compete with the football games Saturday afternoon or the World Series in claiming reader interest. The trouble is that either football or baseball is down our alley, but the subject Mr. Dean discusses it out of this world.

It is a little unpleasant for one to discover that the world they thought they knew is not the world in which they actually live.

Communism

Lavrenty Beria, Russia's erstwhile police chief, is reputedly in flight and most lately reported to be in Spain. Whatever the outcome, the world is witnessing a wicked, cruel man fleeing from wicked, cruel men. Leaving out all of the philosophical profundities, this man-chasing act summarizes all there is to be said about the Red revolution.

Editorial Of The Day

On Watching One's Step

From The Denver Post

For many years it has been the government's practice to sell commercial utilities only that quantity of federally produced power not asked for by public bodies and co-operatives. The theory was that the public, as represented by local government or consumer-service co-ops, had first call on public-generated power—as long as there was any power to sell.

In pursuit of that policy the government made no long-term contracts with commercial utilities. Contracts that were made permitted the government to withdraw that quantity of public power needed by public bodies or co-operatives, for diversion from the utilities to the latter users.

The Eisenhower administration appears determined to end those past preference policies. The Department of Interior has said it will give preference customers (public bodies and co-operatives) first refusal only on power that is available. After preference customers have contracted for what they want, the department will sell the remaining power to private utilities on long-term contracts. It will not, as in the past, insist upon withdrawal provisions in agreements with non-preference customers. It will not, therefore, take government power from the utilities to fill the demands of public bodies and co-operatives, as power demands change.

There are three exceptions to this rule, as provided by acts of Congress. One is in the Pacific Northwest, throughout the region served by the Bonneville project. Another is in the territory served by the dam at Fort Peck, Mont. The third is the Tennessee Valley. In those three regions Congress explicitly reserved to public bodies strict preference and priority upon all government-produced power and "at all times." Now it is the ruling of the Department of Interior that preference and priority does not apply "at all times" elsewhere in the nation.

The first formal reaction of the country's multi-million-member REA co-ops might be said to have cast its shadow upon the Eisenhower policy at Cody, Wyo., last week. There the board members and managers of electric co-operatives in Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado angrily described the policy as "double talk." They said a policy which professes to embrace the principle of giving public bodies and co-operatives preference on federal power in one breath, but which wipes out withdrawal clauses in contracts with commercial utilities in another, is double talk.

Now, apparently, the Department of Interior is trying to convince the public bodies and co-ops that in the event federal power is sold to commercial utilities, they (the public agencies) will be able to buy power from the utilities at rates and in quantities specified by the department. And that arrangement, says the department, will mean no difference in either the amount or the cost of the power to preference customers.

But we do not think the public bodies or the co-operatives are going to buy that explanation. Nor are they going to accept the new policy on preference and priority. Nor are they going to suppress or submerge their annoyance and disappointment because of political predilections in behalf of the Republican Party.

Small Business Friend Departs Government

WASHINGTON. — Seldom have so many new American ambassadors been appointed from one city than the rash of Washington socialites named by the Eisenhower administration to represent the United States abroad. They include millionaire Bob Guggenheim, ambassador to Portugal; serious-minded philanthropist Corrin Strong, ambassador to Norway; charming party-giver Wiley Buchanan, who replaces Perle Mesta in Luxembourg; and palpitating Arthur Gardner, scion-in-law of part of the Ford motor fortune, who is ambassador to Cuba.

All were given a devastating round of farewell parties before they left Washington and none got a more intensive send-off than Ambassador Guggenheim, heir of the Guggenheim copper millions. Apparently the ebullient Bob figured that many of the people who entertained him in Washington were expecting to come to Portugal to be entertained by him in return. At any rate he got a little stuffy about dinner parties in his honor, wanted to know who was coming, demanded that dinner start promptly at 8:30 p.m.

"How are you going to get people to dine at 8:30 at your embassy when the Portuguese don't dine until 10:30?" asked Mrs. Anthony McAuliffe, wife of the famed "Nuts" general who refused to surrender to the Germans in the Battle of the Bulge. "I'll be in the embassy," replied the new ambassador, "and if they don't come at 8:30 they won't get any dinner."

"It's a small embassy," he continued, "and I can seat only 22. In my dining room here at home I seat 75."

"But small dinners are better because that's where you get your information," suggested another guest.

Guggenheim agreed that it was the duty of an ambassador to secure information, but continued to comment about the smallness of the embassy.

"When any of you come to see me," he warned, "I'm not going to have you stay at the embassy. I'll reserve a room for you at the hotel and send you the bill."

"Then I can't possibly afford to visit you," chided Mrs. McAuliffe. "An army officer's salary is too low."

"I'm sorry," concluded the ambassador, whose bark is worse than his bite. "But I refuse to have anyone share my bathroom."

NOTE—Charming Ambassador Arthur Gardner spent a cool summer in Michigan, rather than Cuba, waiting for the American embassy in Havana to have its roof repaired. Arthur was not unhappy about avoiding a Cuban summer, and the State Department was not unhappy about having him avoid it.

One of the toughest, fightingest battlers for small business Washington has seen in many a year stepped out of government yesterday. He is Commissioner Steve Spingarn, member of the Federal Trade Commission, who probably did more to revive the commission's original concept of free competition than any other man in a decade.

Spingarn began life as a

Teddy Roosevelt Republican and did his best to carry out T.R.'s attempt to prevent the American economy from being dominated by Big Business. His views are the exact opposite of General Motors' Charley Wilson, who today is busy concentrating military production in the hands of three or four big firms.

So naturally when Spingarn's term expired yesterday he was not reappointed.

Before he stepped out, however, the irrepressible young commissioner fired some blasts that may make precedent inside the Federal Trade Commission.

He warned that funds for protecting free enterprise were cut dangerously low and demanded that FTC funds be fixed directly by Congress, not by the White House under the Budget Bureau.

Congress, he pointed out, had set up the trade commission as an independent agency to check on the executive branch of government, not to kowtow to it. Therefore its funds should not be sequestered — as they have been recently — by the White House.

But the outgoing commissioner fired his most potent blast at the oil cartel which he had helped to expose and prosecute. This exposure led to a grand jury investigation of five of the nation's top oil companies, a probe later dropped by the Eisenhower administration.

Since the ending of price controls and of this prosecution, Spingarn pointed out, the oil companies have boosted prices to the point where it will annually cost the American consumer up to a billion dollars.

"Meanwhile," he said, "one major company has taken cash dividends out of its Middle Eastern oil holdings during the past five years amounting to 1,489 per cent of its average investment."

It's so easy to understand in view of these price increases why the oil companies so bitterly and so relentlessly fought me and the commission's oil report."

Spingarn's rather expansive bosom is covered with medals and battle stars received in two World War II invasions and for operating the 5th Army's counterintelligence in North Africa and Italy. His job was to plant American spies behind enemy lines and catch enemy spies behind our lines.

The oil companies and some of the politicians who have fought Spingarn would never suspect that he nursed a strong streak of sentimentality. During the war, for instance, he captured an Italian girl named Carla Costa who operated as a spy for the Nazis. For a long time she refused to talk, finally broke down, told in detail what she had done for the Nazis. She was sentenced to 20 years in jail. The Italian government had let her out of jail. Though she had been a spy, she said, she had never confessed.

Last summer, Commissioner Spingarn, curious about the toughest and most beautiful spy he ever caught, asked his mother, who was going to Europe, to look up Carla Costa in Rome. Mrs. Spingarn did, found her to be a rosin-tootin' Fascist and one of the chief troublemakers for the De Gasperi government.

In Step With The Sower

The Sower as a boy was advised, "Don't chew your bread and butter twice." We would like to heed the admonition, but fear that some way out in the Kearney and Minden areas they do not read and heed all that the Sower reports.

Dave Martin, head of the GOP as its state chairman, for more than two years has sought more fields to conquer after winning all of the elective offices in the statehouse for his party stalwarts. For that length of time he has sought to get the Legislature under his wing.

Two years ago, Dave discussed with the Sower his aims and pointed out alleged benefits of the partisan bicameral over the non-partisan unicameral.

Worn out from a legislative session, the Sower sojourned to the quiet, peaceful Ozarks there to sit and rock slowly, wiggling his toes, sans shoes, and with no governmental worries. But such mental rest and comfort was denied as the Missouri bicameral Legislature was still in session.

We felt duty bound to write back with facts to straighten Dave out on his fuzzy thinking. We now learn our efforts were in vain as his committee still argues that the small unicameral can be controlled by the lobbies and pressure groups.

We reported back what was taking place in the Missouri Legislature on a ton-mile tax bill and a bill to increase license fees on trucks. The ton-mile tax bill failed by a vote of 60 to 68. Republicans caucused and refused to take a party stand. Democratic leaders denied activity in behalf of the bill sponsored by their governor.

The leadership, which the unholy alliance of Martin and Meier claims is lacking in Nebraska, was provided in Missouri, not by the party chiefs, but by the trucking lobby.

When the license fee bill came to a vote, Missouri newspapermen stated as fact with no reservations that the truckers' lobby actually moved onto the floor of the Legislature in such numbers that the speaker twice had to have them ejected.

They stated as fact that when the vote was taken, representatives of the truckers sat beside nearly every member and in many instances pushed the button recording their vote.

We wonder if the elephant with a Democratic tail realizes that there are as many if not more "bugs" in the partisan bicameral as there are in the non-partisan unicameral.

The watchdogs of the nickles in the State Health Department were thrown into an all-out either when they found on the duplicate of a purchase order one copy of the Kinsey report on female sex behavior being purchased.

Suspicion pointed to Miss Emily Brinckley, head of the division on public health nursing, as wanting to read the book, because most of the other purchases were for her division.

Miss Emily became red-faced and indignant denying that she had sought to purchase the book. Other department heads did likewise.

"It's a joke, son. It's a joke," chortled Purchasing Agent Elaine Yoder when inquiries were made of him regarding who had authorized the purchase of the book. He then showed that original copies of the purchase order did not provide for buying the book.

Charles Moon, director of athletics, who sought to be first to read the Kinsey report, has now settled down with wrestling magazines.

Sen. Robert C. Brower of Fullerton, who suffered a heart attack near the end of the legislative session and was ordered to take the "rest" cure, was a welcome visitor to the statehouse last week.

The senator said the old rocking chair got a good workout for several weeks as he just sat awaiting the time he could start rocking slowly. He said he is now allowed to go to his law office a few hours daily, but he got to enjoying the rest and could not resist coming to see the Cornhuskers open the football season.

The Sower thought at times the senator was resting in the lineup.

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Day Is Dying In The West

Day is dying in the west,
Heav'n is touching earth with rest;
Wait and worship while the night
Sets her evening lamps alight
Thro' all the sky.

Holy, holy, holy, Lord God of hosts
Heav'n and earth are full of thee,
Heav'n and earth are praising thee,
O Lord most high.

When, forever from our sight
Pass the stars, the day, the night,
Lord of angels, on our eyes
Let eternal morning rise,
And shadows end.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Methodism has had its share of singing poets and they have contributed generously to Christendom's treasury of sacred song.

Mary Artemisia Lathbury, the author of the exquisite evening hymn, "Day Is Dying In The West," came from a devout Methodist family in Manchester, N. Y., where she was born in 1841. Her father and two of her brothers were Methodist ministers and Miss Lathbury herself, after a brief career as an art teacher, decided to devote her life and talents to Christian writing. Her religious songs, stories, and pictures have brightened the lives of thousands of Sunday School youngsters in churches of all denominations and creeds across America.

William Fisk Sherwin, also widely known in Sunday School circles for his music and hymn tunes, set Miss Lathbury's hymn to music. Both the hymn and its tune were written in 1880 while Sherwin and Miss Lathbury were attending the Chautauqua Assembly, a summer religious conference on the shores of Lake Chautauqua in New York.

Dr. John H. Vincent, founder of the Methodist church, wanted a new song for use at his conference and, in response to his request for one, the two young people—hymnist and composer—turned out the hymn which has been popular in all similar religious rallies ever since.

Favors Bicameral

Exeter, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: So glad to know that real live men still exist in Nebraska and are working to restore our state government to the bicameral form again.

The lawyer senator from Omaha is slightly vague in his figures. He states that the last bicameral cost the state $200,000 compared with $75,000 for the last unicameral. Just a little sin of omission in that the did not remind us that the 1935 bicameral cost the state $50 million compared with the $194 million appropriated by the 1953 unicameral.

Besides this financial monstrosity born of the "one-horse legislature," the unicameral does not represent the people. Draw a line from Dix County to Franklin County. Thirty-four of the 43 members live east of that line, which just about borders the east third of Nebraska. This means that nine members represent the west two-thirds of the state. The unicameral is a holiday of about five months for the legal profession and the lobbyists for Big Business.

The farmers, the ranchers, the hayrackers, the small-town merchants, the teachers, the home makers, the small factories have no voice in the unicameral. They just help to pay the $200 million appropriated for, you see, there is no check nor limit on this huge sum in the unicameral.

Plea For Safety

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I saw a letter in The Star from someone who had found a little child out in the middle of the street, and had stopped and taken it to find where it belonged. This lady thought it was because of neglect on the part of the parents that it had happened. Also I read an editorial of yours along the same line, and it was your belief that most of the responsibility for the safety of children crossing busy streets must rest with the drivers of cars.

In this one case, the lady probably was right about neglect of the parents, but I must agree with you that the drivers must be careful. It's just not humanly possible for a parent to be with a child all the time. As careful as one can be, even with a youngster around the house and not going to school across busy streets, a mother who is occupied with meals and housework can't keep an eye on a child all the time. A youngster will dart out and into the street before one knows it, and when they are so little, no amount of talking or scolding or warning will always be enough to save them. They just don't remember when they are playing. A child can't be put on a leash like a puppy. I wish all drivers would remember the slogan, "Give The Kids A Brake."

COMMITTEES

Committees are the groups that meet

To do the work for others.

Clubs, large or small, they're members all;

In lodges they are brothers.

In churches they for many a day

To building pay attention.

And then, again, they're business men

Who plan next year's convention.

Committees are the workers who

Get small reward, if any;

The chosen few who gladly do

The labor for the many.

Since every one we lean upon

These lines are penned

about them—

A willing lot, I wonder what

We'd ever do without them?

Names—Not Designs— Sell Women's Clothes

Ignoring the "chalice look" in women's fashions—the goblet gander, some call it—has done no good. It is still there.

Don't think that ignoring it has been easy, either. It is difficult to stand by in silence and see so many startling things happen to a fundamental shape which has grown old and dear in one's memory. In the golden days of vanished youth, goblets came mostly in glass, and one thing you could count on—they had thin stems. Brother, have you noticed some of the stems these days?

If women had any sense at all, the only ones who would attempt the chalice look are those fortunate few who got caught feet first in a washing machine wringer at an early age, and were rescued at the moment when the wringer had progressed to a point just north of center on their tummies.

As it is, though, most of today's goblet looks can be explained only on the theory that the stems got a bad case of mumps in the glass factory.

There is proof aplenty in the fact that it isn't the design that sells a new style—it's the name. Designers can whump up creations at the drop of a shoulder strap that have this chalice thing beat four ways from the waistline, but unless they have names like comic strip heroines, they're strictly for export to the Hot-Tentists.

The fact is, if they're smart the designers will hire somebody right now to get to work on names for the next batch of women's wear. For a whopping big fee, I'd undertake the job myself. It would have to be big, though—I'm not one to sell my fellow males down the river for any paltry little pittance.

Since one of the rules of designing seems to be that the center of balance must shift radically with each new fashion, the next one ought to be something like the "Light Bulb Look." The name alone brings up visions of what ought to be a different enough style, even for the ladies. Imagine, if you can, an illuminated bulge—

After that there are a dozen different titles that could be put to good use. Consider, for instance, the "Earle Look"—bald at the top; the "Boomerang Look" for the flirtatious type; the "Egg Beater Look" to hide big feet; the "Martyr Look" for husbands; and . . . but that's enough, I don't want to exhaust the field all at once.

Besides, think up your own titles. There's millions in it!

The Morning Spotlight Turns On Betrothal News

AT LAST! This is the rosy dawn we have been waiting for, these many mornings—this is the day we can tell the exciting news that we've been keeping under cover for the past week or two—and here it is:

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leroy Coryell are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Adele Margaret, to Donald Joyce Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Cloyd Hall of Kansas City, Mo.

The wedding is planned for Saturday evening, Nov. 28, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal.

Miss Coryell was graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, of which she served as president; Mortar Board, honor society for senior women; Pi Lambda Theta, Teachers' college honorary, and Phi Beta Kappa. Following her graduation, Miss Coryell became associated with The Lincoln Star as a member of its woman's department staff.

Mr. Hall is a graduate of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., and is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He recently returned from Japan where he served as a lieutenant in the U. S. Army.

MENTION of one bride-to-be always brings to mind another—in this instance, Miss Jane Traphagen whose marriage to Homer Allen Yates will be solemnized on Saturday evening, Oct. 3, at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal.

This morning Miss Traphagen is announcing the members of the bridal party which will include Mrs. Donald Williams (Esther Beynon) of Rocky Ford, Colo., who has been chosen as the matron of honor—and four bridesmaids—Mrs. Francis Nagle, Crete; Mrs. Robert Kasmarek, Janesville, Wis.; Mrs. Richard Koch, St. Louis, and Mrs. William Kimball.

William Yates of Springfield, Mass., will serve his brother as best man, and the ushers will be Robert Maloney, John T. Small, Jack Jansing, all of New York City; Donald Darst and Randall Ayer.

AND NOW, since we are on the topic of brides-to-be, we think we should tell you that more prenuptial courtesies have been added to Miss Barbara Weishel's already well filled party book—Miss Weishel, whose marriage to John L. Saylor will be solemnized at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal, on Saturday evening, Oct. 17, will be complimented next Friday when Mrs. George Rohman is a luncheon hostess at the University club. Fourteen guests have been invited for the luncheon, and Miss Weishel will be presented with a hostess gift.

ALSO ON Miss Weishel's Friday calendar is the 7:30 o'clock dessert supper and crystal shower for which Mrs. Lawrence McKee (Joan Carveth) will be hostess at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Carveth.

HONORING Miss Weishel on the following day—Saturday, Oct. 3—will be Mrs. Richard Stehly, the former Frances Robinson, and Miss Peggy Mulvaney who have invited guests for an afternoon party at the home of Mrs. Stehly. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a personal shower.

THEN comes Sunday—and the luncheon for which Mrs. William Svoboda of Hebron will be hostess when she entertains in courtesy to Miss Weishel at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Schreiber of Lincoln. The bride-elect will be given a linen shower.

BRIDES-to-be, however, do not have a complete monopoly on the morning's news—just heard, for instance, that the eightsome that has been sampling Minnesota's clear, cool, pre-October weather the past week are due home this week-end—in the group are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Weaver who were a Pelican Lake host and hostess to Dr. and Mrs. Lee Stover, Mr. and Mrs. James Crabbill and Mr. and Mrs. Oril Barber.

APROPOS of autumn treks to Minnesota—we hear that Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart will be going to their summer home at Longville, Minn., on Woman's Lake next week-end—and that their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Craft.

FOUND SOME California-bound travelers this morning, too—they are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Raymond, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Craig O'Brien, and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Sichel who leave next Wednesday for Los Angeles and a drug convention. From Los Angeles the travelers will go up the coast to San Francisco where they will spend a few days before returning home.

OPENED the guest book just now to find that some new names had been added—those of E. B. Hazen, his daughter, Miss Effie Hazen, and his sister, Miss Beth McGill, who arrived this mid-week to spend several days as the guests of Mr. Hazen's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hazen.

THEN, TOO, we just this moment learned that Mrs. H. L. Dempster and Mrs. J. H. Thompson, both of Beatrice, will be luncheon hostesses at the University club today when they honor Miss Phoebe Dempster whose marriage to Don Hamann will take place on Oct. 17. The 20 guests will include campus friends of the bride-elect.

The Brides' Book Says:

Miss Eunice Hester, whose marriage to J. Richard Schefcik will be solemnized on Saturday, Sept. 26, at 8 o'clock, at St. Mathews Church, Episcopal, will have as her matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Howard Hunter.

The bridesmaids are Miss Beverly Johnson and Miss Connie Hester, sister of the bride-to-be. Janet Hester, the bride-elect's cousin, will be flower girl and the ringbearer is Ronald Kivett.

George Schefcik of Alliance will serve his brother as best man and the ushers are Howard Hunter and Gene Holthus.

Immediately following the wedding rehearsal at 8 o'clock on Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin James Hester will honor their daughter and her fiancé at a small party in the parlors of St. Mathews church. Members of the families and the bridal party will be the guests. Included in the list of out of town guests at the party are Mrs. Pearl McCawley and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schefcik, Alliance; Miss LaVerne Schefcik, Torrington, Wyo., Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dodd, Shenandoah, Ia., and Mrs. Alice Reitz, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Miss Gloria Zier, whose marriage to Robert S. Bowers will be an event of Saturday, Oct. 24 at St. Paul Methodist Chapel, has announced that her maid of honor will be Miss Evelyn Schmidt. Mrs. Tad Tucker, sister of the bridegroom, will be bridesmatron, and the bridesmaid is Miss Joy Bird.

Nancy Kay Zier, the bride-elect's sister will be the flower girl.

John E. Bowers will serve his brother as best man and the ushers are William M.

Mulder, and William J. Zier, brother of the bride-to-be.

On Saturday evening, Miss Marie Lococo will be the incentive for a miscellaneous shower given at the Malcolm hall. The hostesses for the party which will be held at 8 o'clock, are Mrs. George Carr, Mrs. Thomas Walls, Mrs. Virgil Heidbrink, Mrs. Don Yates, and Mrs. Earl Nelson. Miss Lococo will marry Richard R. Heim on Tuesday, Oct. 6, at St. Mary's Cathedral, at 10:30 o'clock.

Miss Lococo will be honored again on Wednesday, Sept. 30, at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Sam

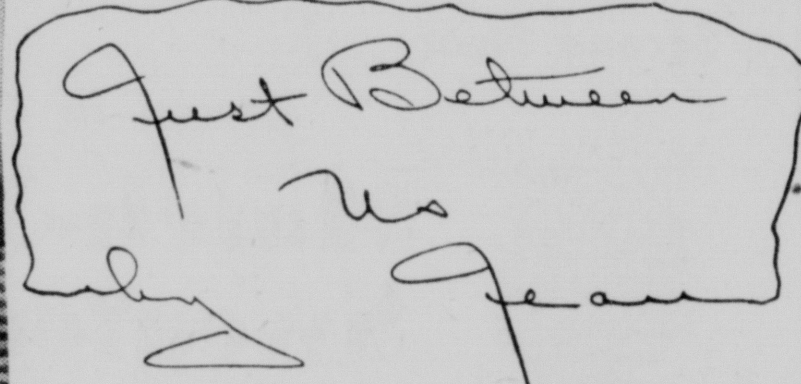

Giunta, Mrs. Hollis Jennings, Mrs. John Hicken and Miss Agness Lococo, cousin of the bride-elect, entertain at the home of Mrs. Giunta. The party will be a one gift shower.

Miss Velma Long of Stockton, Calif., who will become the bride of Don M. Burcham, of Lincoln, in Stockton, Calif., on Sunday evening, Sept. 26, was honored on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 19, when Miss Catherine Clark entertained 30 guests. The party was held at the home of Miss Clark, and Miss Long was presented with a miscellaneous shower.

A Guest From Denver

Miss Adele Coryell

—this is the time of year when buyers of women's clothes journey to the markets to view and purchase the new fashions. Like many women I have always thought this to be quite a "lark," but from a veteran buyer for one of Lincoln's foremost shops, I learned what a terrific responsibility and lot of work buying actually is.

—one week's time is usually all that is allotted to "shop" the entire market—and this means seeing, at least, four or five showings a day. This accomplished, the buyer then makes an appointment to "write the line" (a tentative "written order"). The merchandise on each order is then compared with all the other orders written during the trip as to type, price, and quality.

—it is up to each individual buyer to decide what will sell in her store's locality. She must also stay within the budget given her—so many dresses must be bought within a certain price range and different fabrics must be chosen, too, in each price bracket. Since the merchandise is selected three or four months ahead of each season, the buyer must have a sixth sense about what the fashions will be that far in advance.

—a good buyer must also always satisfy her sales force as well as her customers—if a salesgirl doesn't like a particular item she simply doesn't show it effectively.

—in her spare (?) time the successful buyer is constantly on the alert for new fashions, and fashions in which her customers will be interested. She must read as much fashion literature as possible, attend all fashion clinics and shows. The minute her department does not have what the customer wants and the department begins to lose patronage her days as a buyer are numbered! —it's not so simple and easy after all, is it?

Plan District Meeting

When the First District of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs holds its annual fall convention on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 8 and 9, at Auburn, the officers and club delegates will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the district's organization. Hostesses to the district, of which the Lincoln Woman's Club and the Lincoln Junior Woman's Club are members, will be the Auburn, Brock and Johnson clubs and clubs of Nemaha County.

Betrothal Announced

ANN LOUISE HUNTING

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Hunting of Austin, Minn., are this morning announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ann Louise, to Dr. John J. Heimark Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Heimark of Fairmont, Minn.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Nov. 14.

Miss Hunting attended Wellesley College for two years, and was graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, of which she served as president, and Pi Lambda Theta. Dr. Heimark was graduated from the United States naval academy at Annapolis, Md., and took his medical training at the University of Minnesota. He interned in San Francisco and his residence in internal medicine was at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

A highlight of the convention will be the Thursday evening banquet honoring the junior clubs in the district and especially the two new Junior groups, the Lincoln Junior Woman's Club and the Louisville Junior Club. Mrs. Orville Nielsen of Plattsmouth, district director of juniors, will preside at the banquet, which will be under the direction of the Auburn Juniors, and featured speaker will be Mrs. Oscar Warp of Minden, state president.

Officers of the recently-organized Lincoln Junior Woman's Club are Mrs. Neale Cople, president; Mrs. Ed Hersh, vice president; Mrs. Sam Schwartzkopf, treasurer; Mrs. Vincent Blinde, recording secretary; and Mrs. Lloyd Schmader, corresponding secretary.

Thursday afternoon, Oct. 8, a special program honoring past district presidents will be conducted by Mrs. Waldo McPherson of Adams, district historian and past district president. Reports of county federation presidents and district chairmen will be made Friday morning, with Mrs. Vern Lewis of Shubert, first vice president, and Mrs. Ray Norris of Weeping Water, second vice president, conducting the session.

Convention speakers will include Mrs. F. H. Barnore of Lexington, first vice president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. James Northrup, Omaha, state second vice president.

To Celebrate Extension Club Anniversary Elects Officers

On Sunday, Oct. 4, Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Myers will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at a family dinner at Cotner Terrace. All of their five sons and their families are expected to attend including their 14 grandchildren, with the exception of two boys in the armed services, and one attending high school in Richland, Wash.

Attending the golden wedding anniversary dinner will be a great grandson, Kenny Gene Bond, Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Myers, Richland, Wash., with their two sons; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Myers and two daughters from Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Myers and two sons, Elmhurst, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Rasche W. Myers and three sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie L. Myers and their son and daughter from Lincoln.

The members of the family from out-of-town will arrive Saturday evening and will remain in Lincoln for the week end.

Reds Deny Clark's Charge That 958 GIs Still Captive

Delay OK On POW Quizzing

MUNSAN (Saturday) (INS)—The Communists today denied Gen. Mark W. Clark's charge that more than 3,000 prisoners, including 958 Americans, still are held in North Korean or Manchurian prison camps.

Peiping Radio announced that the rejection was made formally at Panmunjom in a letter which claimed all prisoners have been turned back to the Allies or given into custody of the Indian troops in the neutralized zone of Korea.

Notification was given by Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, senior member of the Communist delegation to the Military Armistice Commission, to Maj. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, head of the United Nations Command delegation.

Gen. Clark demanded Thursday that the Communists return immediately 958 Americans and other unreported Allied prisoners of war, estimated to total more than 3,000.

Immediate Return
Clark, in a letter to the top Communist commanders in Korea, demanded the immediate return of the prisoners "regardless of where they were captured or held in custody."

That was an apparent reference to reports that some American flyers are being held in China itself on charges of flying over "neutral" Chinese territory during the Korean War.

Meanwhile Allied and Communist leaders agreed to relay for five days the start of their epic battle for the minds of more than 23,000 men captured in the war.

The battle, expected to be the most clear cut fight yet waged between the free world and Communism for the minds of men, now is scheduled to begin Oct. 1 when picked teams of "persuaders" go to work on prisoners who have renounced their homelands.

Stumbling Block
The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, which is headed by India and which includes two Communist nations, asked for the five day delay in order to complete "arrangements and facilities."

But Brig. Gen. A. L. Hamblen, the Allied repatriation chief, revealed that one stumbling block was Communist insistence on the right to speak to each of 23,000 Chinese and North Korean anti-Communists individually.

The trained Allied "persuaders" will have only 23 Americans, one Briton and 335 South Koreans to work on during the 90 day period of explanations.

Hamblen agreed to the five-day postponement but told the Indian chairman of the commission that the Allies would not agree to any extension of the explanation period beyond the Dec. 23 deadline already established.

North-Pole Bound Bomber Crashes

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A B-29 weather reconnaissance plane crashed on takeoff Friday from Eielson Air Force Base and first reports from the field were that one airman was killed.

An officer at the base said 10 others were removed from the wrecked plane with injuries. Some were reported in serious condition.

The B-29 was taking off for one of the regular weather observation trips over the North Pole.

It crashed about two miles north of the field, about 24 miles south of here, just off the Richardson Highway.

The plane was of the 58th Weather Reconnaissance Squadron.

It was the first crash of one of the big bombers in the several years of weather mission flights over the polar ice packs.

Two Ousted U.N. Workers Remain Mum

NEW YORK (AP)—Two ousted United Nations employees, both Americans, stood pat Friday on their refusal to say whether they ever had Communist connections.

The pair, Frank C. Bancroft, 48, and Mrs. Julia Older Bazer, 43, were fired by the U.N. for their refusal last year to answer questions of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

They refused again Friday to answer similar questions, although Mrs. Bazer maintained her loyalty in a statement.

B. Frank Watson Heads Chess Club

B. Frank Watson Friday night was named president of the Lincoln City Chess Club at the annual meeting at the YMCA. He succeeds Peter Wood, retiring president.

Other officers named were: Dr. Edgar Hinman and James Weber, vice presidents; Alex Liepnies, tournament director; Kenwood Opp, treasurer, and William Bergsten, secretary.

The club, which meets Tuesdays and Fridays at 7:30 p.m. at the YM, plans to start the city championship tournament in October.

The two were among 11 ousted Americans recently granted reinstatement or cash indemnities by a U.N. appeals tribunal. Bancroft won a $12,000 indemnity ruling, and Mrs. Bazer was awarded $27,500.

Brought back before the sub-committee in an investigation of the indemnities, Bancroft refused to say whether he held Communist Membership Card 91358.

"Certainly if you did not hold that card, a simple answer would wash it out," said Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), chairman of the sub-committee.

Bancroft was a former editor in the U.N. Department of Conferences and General Services. He said he is an inactive min-

Missing Boy Safe

TORRANCE, Calif. (INS)—An overnight search for a 5-year-old Torrance boy feared to have been a kidnap victim ended happily when he turned up at school.

The boy, Michael Crane, unaware of the near-hidden night spent by his parents and a supposed abductor, had spent the night with a schoolmate, Lloyd Strap, 8.

Meeting To Find How Zoning Law Affects Signs Voted

The City Planning Commission has voted to hold a meeting with billboard sign advertising firms and others interested in the sign advertising provisions of the city's proposed new zoning ordinance.

At a public meeting of the City Council this week, sign advertising firms and patrons appeared in protest to the new ordinance. They generally claimed that signs were too limited in size, had too great a setback requirement and would have to be removed in two years if non-conforming.

The Commission took no official action on the protests but indicated a relaxation of certain provisions might be in order.

In other action, the Commission approved an extension of the local business zoning on Adams between 59th and 60th for Don Dixon. The board added another 150 feet to the existing 200 feet of local business extending back from Adams.

The Commission also approved the plat of Jones Place by Mrs. Edna Jones, comprising six lots along the east side of 35th between Lake and Sewell.

Huskers Underdogs Against Untested Illini Eleven

65,000 Expected To See Nebraska Comeback Bid

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Nebraska's football team, in a moment of crisis, launched after the horrendous showing against Oregon, is carried against untested Illinois here today before 65,000 unsympathetic patrons.

Coach Bill Glassford's Cornhuskers, gradually getting acclimated to this idea of iron-man football, are rated underdogs on a scale reading all the way from one point to two touchdowns.

This unknown ingredient of favoritism stems from the fact that Coach Ray Eliot will be shepherding his Fighting Illini into the seasonal baptism while the Huskers were less than unimpressive in descending, 20-12, before the Webs.

"My scout, Chuck Purvis tells me that bad breaks gave Oregon two early touchdowns and Nebraska had to fight an uphill battle all the way," Eliot told The Star. "Actually, the statistics show it was a very even game. Glassford has a sound ballclub with a good line and plenty of break-away runners."

"We know Illinois will be as tough as we will meet," Glassford countered, returning Eliot's salute. "Ray's squad is supposed to be the fastest in the Big Ten and will have a definite manpower advantage on us, particularly at the ends."

Nebraska's emergency at the wings, extremely vulnerable in the Oregon nightmare, is soothed somewhat by the presence of Andrew Leehr, perhaps the top two-way operator on the squad. His broken jaw encased in the same mask used by Husker Athletic Director Patsy Clark on this same hallowed gridiron 38 years ago.

Andy and Bill Schabacker, an All-Big Seven defensive choice last year, may be called upon for fulltime duty, as Soph Ralph Weddell is hampered by a Charley Horse and Sylvester Harris is still learning the position.

Word was whispered around Champaign Friday night that Glassford was readying some surprises for the Illini, possibly tossing the "T" right back in their faces.

On the surface, the Huskers seemed dependent on a revised offense, generated by the running and passing of Tailback Rex Fischer, Oakland sophomore who fairly sizzled against the Webs.

Fischer and Wingback Dennis Korinek will get the calls over veterans Johnny Borgogna and Bob Smith, who were ragged in the opener.

Glassford is hoping for improvement at the fullbacks, especially from Ray Novak, a powerhouse the past two years, a powerhouse yet to impress as a plunger, has the first call.

The notion persists that the Huskers may not be in the game if their end play, linebacking and pass defending does not improve. Those positions could be swamped by Illinois' type of play with quick reaction.

In the weight department, the teams are fairly even, except for the 235-pound hulk of John Bauer at right guard for the Illini.

Starting his 12th year at the Illini helm, Eliot may field a starting club of nine lettermen and two sophomores, Quarterback Em Lindbeck, 5-foot-10, 160-pound passing wizard and Halfback J. C. Caroline, whose open-field dabble is already being compared with Buddy Young.

Lindbeck, rated a heady center and a fair passer, has yet to show defensive strength. Caroline averaged 10 yards per carry in the Illini intra-squad game Saturday. Bob Congolia, 6-3 junior, may replace Lindbeck at game time.

Stan Wallace, a power runner and a resourceful linebacker, draws the fullback nod and Buddy DeMoss, a veteran scamperer, is at the other halfback.

It's up front where the Illini have a huge edge. Rated the fastest line in the Big Ten, the Illini forwards boast three All-American candidates in End Rocky Ryan, Center Jack Chamblin and Tackle Bob Lenzi. Nebraska's line appeared woefully slow, both on the initial charge and in moving downfield, last week.

Size it all up this way: If Nebraska comes within 12 points of the Illini, score it up as a moral victory.

Probable lineups:

Nebraska holds a 4-2 margin in the series which was launched back in 1903. In the last meeting (1925) at Champaign, the Huskers triumphed 14-0. Previous scores:

1903—Nebraska 16, Illinois 0, at Lincoln.
1904—Nebraska 16, Illinois 0, at Lincoln.
1905—Nebraska 24, Illinois 0, at Lincoln.
1923—Illinois 24, Nebraska 7, at Urbana.
1924—Illinois 9, Nebraska 6, at Lincoln.
1925—Nebraska 14, Illinois 0, at Champaign.

On the first block the Bruins reached the Kansas two but Davenport fumbled the scoring chance away.

On the second, UCLA re-seemingly ran out of gas in the second half. Fullback Frank Sabatini and Halfbacks Don Hess and Ralph Moody repeatedly sliced through for sizable gains. The Kansas backs struck four times for gains of 12, 11, 12 and 13 on successive plays in the scoring march.

Cameron and Co., however, had better reserves behind them and wore the Jayhawks down.

Twice Kansas punts were blocked, each time by Quarterback Terry Dehay, with recoveries by Myron Berliner.

Lincoln Star Special
FREMONT—Bill Fry spearheaded a final quarter, desperation drive that culminated in a touchdown to give Northeast 13-7 victory over Fremont here Friday night.

Fremont led 7-6 until the final five minutes of the game, when Northeast took the ball on the 48. Fry picked up 18 yards on two tries at the end and gave the Rockets a first down on the Tiger 34.

Jim Lee picked up nine yards through the line and the clock showed 4:40 left to play. Then Fry went off tackle for 24 yards and was stopped one yard short of paydirt.

However, the Rocket Rambler was not to be denied the touchdown and on the next play went over for the score, with four minutes to play.

Fremont made one more bid in the game but the drive was stopped when Larry Hennings intercepted a pass on the Northeast 39 with 50 seconds remaining. The Rockets stalled the ball until the end of the game.

Northeast drew first blood early in the first quarter. Fremont received the kickoff and took the ball to the 30. Three plays later the Tigers were forced to punt. Don Starmer in kick formation fumbled a bad pass from center and the Rocket line converged to recover on the Fremont 18.

Three plays put the ball on the two and from there Fry scored. John Rohrig missed his kick for point.

After the visitors had been stymied and forced to punt, Peters broke off his own left tackle on a quick-opening play and raced down the left sidelines for the score.

The Knights from Fremont settled down and it looked as if they would more than hold their own against the hometown club. That was until little Donny Flynn got into the act. The speedster took a handoff from quarterback Bill Frappia and threaded his way for 38 yards and his first touchdown of the evening.

St. Pat's came back with a strong running game. A couple of nice running backs in Dick Stewart and Bob Hoelsing lugged the ball into Bluebird territory, but the visitors aerial game failed them at this point and Cathedral was in possession as the half ended.

The superior manpower of the Bluebirds asserted itself in the third stanza. The Knights tired and the Bluebirds took advantage of the situation as Frappia looped a 35-yard aerial to Bill Hoepner for the tally. The extra point made it 20-0 Cathedral.

The winners remained with their passing game in scoring their fourth tally. This time it was a Frappia to End Gene Kobza pass that turned the trick. Frappia's attempted PAT via the aerial route failed.

The visitors tried desperately for a TD as the fourth period opened, but the Knights were out of gas and the Bluebirds controlled the game from that point on.

Flynn added to score as he dashed 70 yards right through the St. Pat team. The little left half amazed the crowd with his tremendous change of pace and speed.

Cathedral High School struck quickly and then often with long scoring thrusts to overwhelm St. Francis of Fremont, 33-0 at the College View Field Friday night, wrapping up their third consecutive win of the season before an enthusiastic hometown gathering.

Pint-sized Don Flynn with sizzling runs of 38 and 70 yards, and Stan Peters who dashed 80 yards for a touchdown on the very first Bluebird play from scrimmage, were the outstanding stars of well-coached Cathedral eleven.

After the visitors had been stymied and forced to punt, Peters broke off his own left tackle on a quick-opening play and raced down the left sidelines for the score.

The Knights from Fremont settled down and it looked as if they would more than hold their own against the hometown club. That was until little Donny Flynn got into the act. The speedster took a handoff from quarterback Bill Frappia and threaded his way for 38 yards and his first touchdown of the evening.

Lincoln High, whose backs ran consistently through holes wide enough to drive a truck through, blasted an undermanned Beatrice eleven at the Oval Friday night, 52-0.

Lincoln High put Beatrice in the hole with a 14-point first quarter and had no trouble thereafter.

The game was marred by a total of 20 1/2 yards in penalties. In the first half alone Lincoln High was set back 90 yards on penalties and Beatrice lost 59 1/2. It took one hour and five minutes to play the first half.

Mickey Mattern, Rog Krhounek, Larry Pickering, Jim Walters, Marty Perez and Wayne Roberts did the Lincoln ball-toting and with just about equal success.

Krhounek's lone touchdown was the sparkler of the game. He repeated his last week's performance against North Platte by returning a punt for a touchdown.

The shifty scatback's return of an Orangeman punt in the second quarter was the epitome of broken-field running.

Taking the kick on the Beatrice 38, he swung backwards and headed for the west sideline. Seemingly hemmed in, he picked up blocking and cut back toward the east sideline. A prize opportunist, he went where his blockers were and crossed the goal standing up as Center Craig Calen took out the last defender.

Lincoln scored when the ball game was only one minute and nine seconds old as End Jack Duffek blocked a Beatrice punt in the end zone to give Lincoln a safety.

Only two minutes and six seconds later Fullback Mickey Mattern scored the first Lincoln touchdown on a 12-yard run on a delayed back.

After three unsuccessful plays at scrimmage Beatrice punted out on the Lincoln High 25-yard line. From there Back Wayne Roberts engineered a 75-yard LHS touchdown march. Roberts carried the ball 11 times on the drive but it was Mattern who scored on a 10-yard off tackle slant.

As Beatrice lost the ball on downs early in the second quarter, Rog Krhounek and Marty Perez alternated in carrying the ball the necessary 52 yards before Perez scored on a two-yard plunge over the middle making the score 20-7 with 7:21 left in the half.

Perez plunged half a yard to score and cap a 39-yard drive. That made the score 32-0 at the half.

While the Lincoln defense was rocking Beatrice for a right gain of minus 20 yards in the second half Mattern, Perez and Eldon Hatfield scored to make the score 43 yards.

Mattern went off tackle 10 yards for his third TD and Perez got his third on a two-yard wedge.

Pickering hit Hatfield on the Beatrice 12 and Hatfield romped over with the final touchdown as his fellow end, Gary Smith, put on a key block. The play covered 43 yards.

Plainsmen, Chadron To Tangle Here

Nebraska Wesleyan University and Chadron State Teachers, a pair of unrated Nebraska College Conference football outfits with sparkling pre-loop play records, will tangle in O. N. Magee Memorial Stadium here tonight.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. Performing for the first time in Lincoln under new Coach L. J. Fitzgibbon, the Eagles will pose a serious threat to any NCC title aspirations developed by Coach Roy B. Robertson's Plainsmen.

The Eagles were a polished outfit as they disposed of South Dakota Mines at Chadron last Saturday night. Coach Fitzgibbon uncovered a new Eagle star in Larry Turner, 160-pound quarterback, and produced a stout defensive line anchored by 220-pound junior tackle, Timmer Evans.

Wesleyan is spotted a slight three-pounds-per-man overall weight advantage.

The probable starters:

Special Session Won't Solve Problem—Crosby

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

"Nothing has been suggested that would indicate to me that a special session of the Legislature is necessary or would solve taxation problems of the state," Gov. Robert Crosby said Friday in announcing that he had received a petition signed by 300 of his neighbors at North Platte asking such action.

The governor said he recognized that Lincoln County, where he resides, received the "most extreme" increases by the State Board of Equalization of any county in the state. He pointed out that the county doubled the assessment of the previous year which was then increased 207 per cent by the state board.

The petition sought to have a special session to repeal the tax assessment law basing assessments for tax purposes at 50 per cent of actual value and "return to the former system."

The governor pointed out that this would in no way correct the problem facing the state as the Constitution still provides for fixing values at "actual value."

If the petition suggestion is that he ignore the Constitution as has been done for 20 years and allow values to be fixed at any fraction of actual desired by the taxpayer, the governor indicated that he was not interested.

ADVERTISMENT Helps You Overcome FALSE TEETH Looseness and Worry

Hubbard Licensee Cited

The Liquor Commission cited Harold Walsh of Hubbard, Neb., for hearing Oct. 6 on complaint of accepting credit from wholesalers and distributors for a period exceeding 30 days. Walsh holds a Class "C" license.

No longer be annoyed or feel ill-at-ease because of loose, wobbly false teeth. FASTEREETH, an improved alkaline (non-acid) powder, sprinkled on your plates holds them firmly so they feel more comfortable. Soothing and cooling to gums made sore by excessive acid mouth. Avoid embarrassment caused by loose plates. Get FASTEREETH today at any drug store.

The governor expressed the opinion that the big problem is to get a more complete return on personal property next year so as to reduce the present burden on real estate.

The governor said he has been informed that Lincoln County has increased personal property assessments by $800,000 since the state board acted on equalization.

session of the Legislature to consider taxes.

Sens. Sam Klaver, John J. Larkin Jr., John Adams Sr., Charles Tyrdnk and Karl E. Vogel said they were against it.

Sen. George Syas said he would favor a special session "only if a sound solution to the tax mess is found" in advance.

Sen. William Moulton was unavailable for comment.

City-County Building Study Group Is Slated

The City Council and county commissioners will appoint a joint nine-member committee next week for a review and study of the proposed joint city-county building.

The committee, said Mayor Clark Jeary, will not be established under the recent state law for a city-county authority. This group, said the mayor, will be appointed for a six months term to determine whether or not the permanent building committee should be named at this time.

"There is no use in establishing a permanent committee," said Jeary, "until we are sure the committee would not die due to a lack of functioning."

Both the city and county, said the mayor, should be ready to proceed with a building before the permanent committee is established. This preliminary committee will consist of five members appointed by the City Council and four by the county commissioners.
